Police Probing Xavier Arson

—photos by kerry webster

ARSON DAMAGE: Seattle firefighters mopped up debris inside the Xavier Hall faculty cafeteria last night, after an apparently set fire caused extensive damage. Witnesses reported seeing three suspects splash a liquid on the cafeteria windows and set it ablaze. The initial flash of flame burst about 50 feet into the adjacent street and as high as the second story of the hall.

A fire, believed to be arson, hit Xavier Hall's faculty cafeteria last night at approximately 9:33 p.m., causing extensive smoke and fire damage to furniture and walls.

All windows in the northwest sector of the building were blown out.

THREE MEN were believed to have started the fire, according to acting Seattle Police Chief W. Frank Moore. They are thought to have then thrown an inflammatory liquid on the fire, causing it to flare. One of the men is believed to have been burned in the attempt.

An abandoned five-gallon can was found nearby.

The men were seen fleeing the building in the direction of the Chieftain.

A campus security guard ordered them to halt, and then fired. One of the men was believed wounded, Moore said. He fell and was helped away by his companions.

AS OF LAST NIGHT, police and members of the fire department's arson squad were combing the area. No suspects were in custody.

Two eyewitnesses were reportedly being interviewed by the arson squad.

Fr. Frank Costello, S.J., who was in the building at the time, said he heard no blast and saw nothing before the fire itself.

Flames reportedly reached a height of two stories and caused some damage to offices on the second and third floors of Xavier.

The Very Rev. Kenneth W. Baker, S.J., president of S.U., and the Rev. John A. Fitterer, S.J., chancellor, were at the scene with a crowd of some 150 people.

Boys Club Wins Top Honor

S.U.'s Boys Club, less than a year old, has been named among the nation's top four Boys' Club units.

The award was given last Thursday at the 64th Annual Boys Club Convention in Boston.

Delegates to the gathering, including President Richard M. Nixon, honorary chairman, watched a slide presentation on the S.U.-sponsored club and its quarters in the Connolly P.E. Center.

The S.U. club offers a wide range of innovative programs for area youth, as well as traditional athletic activities. Among these are extracurricular tutoring, vocational counseling, cadet programs, and involvement in neighborhood Youth Corps activities.

"This award is a great tribute to S.U., as the sponsor of our group," said Clarence Hunter, director of the Boys Club, yesterday.

The University began sponsorship of the club last year, to fulfill a pledge to make the newly-built P.E. Center available to youth of the Central Area.

Marian Hall Closes For Summer Face-Lift

by Marsha Green
Feature Editor

Like all women who reach a certain age and contemplate a face lift, Marian Hall, 72-year-old apartment residence of upperclasswomen, will undergo major repair work this summer.

FOR THE FIRST time in its history, Marian will be closed summer quarter in order to complete the work by fall quarter. Coeds who usually reside in Marian during summer quarter will stay on the eighth and ninth floors of Campion Tower, according to Agnes Reilly, Dean of Women.

The major repair work will be the wall plumbing. In addition, both exterior and interior painting will be done.

The plumbing and painting were areas cited by residents of Marian in a survey winter quarter. The survey was taken to determine what repairs the girls felt were necessary. These recommendations were then presented to the Board of Trustees who allotted funds for the needed repairs.

MARIAN HALL, built in 1898, was first used as a women's residence in 1959 and was in full operation as the upperclasswomen's residence in 1960. Previously it had been an apartment house and rented to outsiders as well as students.

According to Joe Gardiner, assistant for maintenance services, the plumbing repairs will bring the building into line with the building department code. Fire-wise, he said, the building is safe.

The major painting will be of the interior with some work done on the three-story building's asphalt exterior.

Marian Hall, which has a maximum occupancy of 104, now houses 72 coeds.

"These renovations should take care of the building for the next three years," said Dean Reilly.

Boston Tuition Hike Brings College Strike

by Sister Dolores Schafer
Striking students at Jesuit-run Boston College are still negotiating with faculty and administrators over a proposed $1000 tuition raise over a two-year period.
Tom Shean, editor of The Heights, the college newspaper, explained the strike by phone Tuesday afternoon.

THE STRIKE, which started April 13, was prompted by an announcement by the Very Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., University President, on March 20, that there would be a $500 tuition raise this coming academic year and another $500 hike in the 1971-72 school year. The announced reason was to cover a $3.2 million deficit.

The following day, the undergraduate congress rejected a proposal by the negotiating committee, which asked that the increase be reduced to $300 each year. The congress stated that a student strike would begin April 13 unless Fr. Joyce agreed to table the matter, which he did.

HE STATED, however, that there would still be a $500 increase for the incoming freshmen. Following a student referendum, the congress decided that the raise for freshmen was a violation of the agreement to table the issue.

Striking students closed the administrative offices housing the treasurer's office, admissions, registration, and other offices. No violence was reported.

AFTER A WEEK of negotiating, a package of 19 proposals was presented to the student body and the university president. It included proposals to lower the tuition increase to $240, introduce classes on a pass-fail system, and other proposals dealing with student rights and privileges.

On April 22, when the 19 proposals had been rejected, the undergraduate congress agreed to stop picketing the administration building and the president's office. They also agreed to cancel classes for the remainder of the year in protest and to facilitate negotiations.

At this time negotiations with the administration are at an impasse and the committee is pessimistic about a quick and satisfying solution, according to Shean.

THE STRIKE is no longer confined to the Boston College campus. Emmanuel and LaSalle, Catholic women's colleges in Boston, are also on strike for similar reasons.

Student strikers have acquired the support of other college student bodies in Massachusetts in their fight for lower tuitions and state or federal aid for students, Shean concluded. Massachusetts student groups are flying April 30 to Washington, D.C., in an effort to acquire federal aid for their schools.

Dean Suggests Teacher Cut

by James B. McGoldrick, S.J.

1. Student Enrollment & Staff—1949-1950
I here present statistics from "School and Society" that may help to justify a recent suggestion I made in The Spectator (4/21/70) that S.U. dispense with the services of fifty or more teachers.

In 1949-1950 (20 years ago) S.U. conducted a fully accredited institution with 3004 students men and women. Of this student body 2517 were full time in attendance and 487 were part time. The total teachers were 141 of which 138 were full time.

2. Student Enrollment—1969-1970
As of Fall quarter, academic year 1969-1970 (20 years after data under No. 1) S.U. enrolled 3468 students. Of these young men and women 2571 were full time and 897 were part time. This grand total, 3468, for fall, 1969-1970, gives S.U. an excess of 464 students over its enrollment in 1949-1950.

3. The Question Now Is: How Many Additional Full Time Teachers Should Be Hired to Take Care of This Additional 464 Students?

4. A Fairly Large Group of Operative Classes Without Added Teachers Can Absorb Many More Students.

To help us reach a united conclusion let us recall that it is an administrative commonplace that an existing group of classes numbering for example, 60 or 70, with no special stress or strain or added teachers can easily absorb one or two hundred more students.

5. Ten or Twelve Full Time Extra Teachers Should Suffice.

I here respectfully contend that 10 to 12 full time teachers are adequate to give superior service to this group of three or four hundred new students. 150 full time teachers should be ample to meet the current full time teacher demand at S.U.

6. Seattle U. is Over-Staffed

It cannot go on this way. Continuation of current hiring procedures spells early bankruptcy.

7. Decrease and Increase Now Face S.U.

Though there has been a decrease of two hundred eleven (211) for fall quarter, 1969-1970, the teaching staff has increased by 21 full time and 13 part time teachers.

8. Who Should Be Retained?

I maintain that teachers should be retained:

- 1) who have sufficient dedication to teach at least 15 hours per week.
- 2) who place the student's personality and his interest in a place of honor and make the student feel that Seattle University exists primarily for him.
- 3) who try to bring success into the students' undertakings.
- 4) who absolutely insist on having their grading profile (the number of "A's, B's, C's) published each quarter in the columns of the S.U. "Spectator." The students have a right to know the philosophy of grading, (if such it may be called) that regulates the life of the various professors.

9. Low Graders Present Problems As Regards Retention.

My impressions culled over the years is that low graders are usually poor teachers. Low graders always impressed me as insecure individuals. They seem to lack whatever goes with leadership. They seem to be apathetic as regards the students; to lack interest in students as persons.

A questionnaire of a hundred items or so carefully filled out by representative students may prove revealing in this regard. The faculty senate too would obviously be taken into confidence on a purely advisory basis.

CAMPVS FORVM

To the Editor:

According to our local rag, the student body officers of your fine school have seen fit to recommend termination of relations with Brigham Young University due to disapproval of the doctrine of the Mormon church.

If I might extend a few questions: In this age of ecumenism, when stress should be placed on conciliation among religious factions, doesn't it seem somewhat reactionary to proffer such a statement? When tolerance and love for our fellow man is preached, what type of self-righteous being would subject another to a reproachful reprimand of this kind? In a time that sees us extending the hand of peace to our neighbor, how can anyone withdraw that hand because of this neighbors' religious convictions? Has the pendulum of thought in upcoming generations swung from love and peace to vindictiveness and spite? If it has, are these people to be our Huguenots?

Women's Intramural Sign-ups Almost Nil

by Sue Hill

The populace of S.U. is 3,182 students, of which 1,224 are women. But where have these women been between 3-5 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday? That question Mrs. Reba Lucy, Women's Intramural Program advisor, is pondering.

WOMEN'S INTRAMURALS began last week with only 20-25 coeds showing up.

Debbie Potts, student assistant to Mrs. Lucy, claims the low turnout can't be because of an undiversified quantity of events.

According to Debbie: "A poll was distributed to 360 women on campus to find out what activities interested them. Only 30 were returned.

"THE CONSENSUS was that badminton and handball would be the individual activities. Softball and volleyball would be the team sports."

"Maybe the girls just aren't interested," Debbie concluded.

In an interview several weeks ago, Mrs. Lucy laid the lack of response in intramurals to the social life of coeds, against which she admitted it was hard to compete.

MRS. LUCY SAID she would hate to see the program end so rapidly. However, with only 2 per cent of the women students now participating in the program, it is likely that it will.

Intramural activities scheduled for today are volleyball and handball.

Tuesday's winners in intramural badminton were Lynn Menicucci and Jan Case over Joyce Price and Stevie Rutherford.

Women may still join by contacting Mrs. Lucy at the P.E. Center or either Debbie Potts or Bonnie May in Bellarmine.

O'Dea Senior Lettermen Visit S.U. to Learn Soccer Program

As S.U.'s sports year begins to draw to a close, coaches' and players' minds start to speculate about next year and what it might bring.

RECENTLY, two O'Dea High School lettermen, Jeff Jones and A. J. Callan, visited S.U. as potential members of next year's soccer team.

Both are seniors at O'Dea where Jones is a three year letterman in basketball and baseball. Callan earned his two year stripes in football and basketball.

JONES, 18, started to play soccer at St. George's Grade School in fourth grade. He played junior soccer and was a teammate of Callan's when they played for Triumph Motors this year.

Callan, also 18, began to play as a seventh grader at Our Lady of Guadalupe Grade School, and first teamed with Jeff on the CYO All-Star team in 1965.

Jones and Callan, who both plan to become Education majors, led their team (Federal Old Line) to the state Junior Soccer Championship last year.

Both attended the Olympic Soccer Development Camp in San Jose, California last summer. At the camp, Jones and Callan started for their club which was composed of players from ten different states.

Their host at S.U., Joe Zavaglia (ASSU 2nd VP), spoke of their reaction to S.U.

"THEY WERE very pleased with S.U.," Joe said, "and they liked the small classrooms, and the friendly students.

pressed by the new Physical Education Center, the coffee house, and with Bernie Simpson (S.U. assistant basketball coach).

Jones and Callan plan to attend S.U. and both have financial aid from the University to do so.

"THEIR FUTURE in soccer at S.U. is easy to see," said Zavaglia, "when you consider that they will be number four and five on the squad as regards to experience.

"They have fantastic ability, agility, speed and knowledge of the game," Joe mentioned.

CURRENTLY, the soccer team is looking for a $300 donor so that a $1000 scholarship can be awarded to an outstanding soccer player.

All Intramural managers are asked to pick up track sign-up sheets in CC104 or CC117 as soon as possible.
Track meet is May 15 at 6 p.m.

I.K.'s Secure '71 Bid

S.U.'s Wigwam Chapter of Intercollegiate Knights have secured a bid for the 1971 National Convention to be held on campus.

The convention will be next April 13-18.

The I.K.'s sent three representatives to last week's 46th National Convention which was held in Salt Lake City.

Jim Stalder was elected Royal Duke and will serve as national vice president of the service fraternity. Pat Roach and Al Zappelli also attended.

Other topics discussed at the meeting include: possible affiliation with Rotary International, added emphasis on future goals and little sister organizations.

Are we rushing things a bit? Well — not actually — because we know every young man likes to be "worth" something early in his career. It's true, too, that the cost of a university education creates obligations for many young people. The big advantage of a Life Insurance policy is the immediate estate it creates to cover these obligations in case anything should happen to you. This same Life Insurance provides a built-in systematic savings arrangement which guarantees you a specified sum for future needs and gives you a fund for emergencies which might occur in the meantime. Now — when premium instalments are low — is the time to lay the foundation for your Life Insurance estate. Later on it can be easily adjusted to keep pace with personal advancement and growing family responsibilities.

Spurs Lure I.K.s To Olympia Ball

The Governor's Ball for the Youth Legislature, held last Friday night in Olympia, was the site of round two in the "traditional exchange of pranks" between I.K.'s and Spurs.

According to Sharon Minami, president, Spurs placed a fake "long distance" call to Rich Cook, I.K. Duke, requesting 20 Knights to escort a staff of secretaries to the ball.

The I.K.'s found themselves an hour early for the ball, and after several phone calls, discovered their escort services had not been requested. Those who stayed were employed on the punch bowl and receiving line brigades.

It's hard to feel secure under 30
and other tragedies of college life.

Getting hip to the reality that you're not going to be in school forever can be a bad experience. That's why it pays to plan for the future now. Invest in a life insurance program that can provide the foundation for a solid financial structure.

Provident Mutual has a program carefully designed for college students. The earlier you start, the less it costs. And the more security you'll have a chance to build.

So stop by our office today. Or give us a call. And if you end up talking to an over 30, don't be surprised when he empathizes. Mainly because he had to get hip to the same reality.
